

Special Mauchline Ware workshop

A special workshop based on a unique Scottish antique is taking place in Coldstream.

Mauchline Ware - collectibles carved from wood harvested from Flodden Field - was extremely popular in the 1800s. Back then, visitors to the Borders were likely to take home Mauchline Ware cigar cases, snuff boxes or spectacle cases as mementos.

Scottish Borders Council Museum Service and the Mauchline Ware Collectors Club are hosting a complete guide to the history, background, and collecting of Mauchline Ware. The workshop, in the Coldstream Marriage Room on Saturday June 8, between 10am-4pm, is aimed at both aficionados and anyone interested in starting a collection.

During the Mauchline Ware Study Day people will discover how to care for this attractive box ware which was produced for over a hundred years in the Scottish village of the same name. Call Coldstream Museum on 01890 882630 to book places.
